15,000 killed by Heat Wave in Europe

The World Health Organization (WHO) has reported that at least 15,000 people have died in Europe due to a heatwave. The heatwave, which occurred in late August and early September 2022, was particularly severe in Southern Europe, where temperatures reached record highs. WHO experts warn that such extreme weather events are becoming more frequent and intense due to climate change. The organization is calling for urgent action to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and to improve public health systems to better prepare for and respond to such events.
